Enthusiastic Children's Meeting-This Will be Missionary Day. Washington Ghove, Aug. 17,-Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday are attractive days Thursday, and Sunday are attractive days at the Grove. To-day proved no exception, and early this morning the trains and carriages brought the usual crowd, both from the city and surrounding country. A heavy shower which fell last night cooled the atmosphere, laid the dust, and made the Grove more attractive than ever. At 9 o'clock Rev. Dr. Foard presided at the prayer and experience meeting. This was well attended and proved very profitable and interesting.

the prayer and experience meeting. This was well attended and proved very profitable and interesting.

At 10:30 Rev. W. S. Edwards preached from the text found in Numbers, xxi, 9. "And Moses made a serpent of brass and put it upon a pole, and it came to pass that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived." He preached an eloquent and impressive sormon, which was followed by an exruest exhortation by Dr. Frice, Though no one presented themselves at the altar for prayer, yet the meetings are growing in interest, and a general awakening is looked for.

At 3 o'clock found the little ones in the tabernacle anxiously waiting for their meeting to commence. The zeal with which the children attend this service and the readiness with which they recite their verses is a lesson worthy to be learned by those much older. The addresses were made to-day by Revs. D. A. Foard and W. C. Griffith, and the singing was conducted by Prof. Glen Poole. Laddles' meeting was held in the tent at the same hour, conducted by Mrs. Platt, and was one of great profit.

A consecration and testimony at 3 o'clock was under the direction of Rev. Charles Baidwin, of Union Chapel, Washington, which was well attended. Mr. Wm. H. H. Smith led the young people's meeting at 7:45 this evening. These meetings for prayer and praise, which are held at the quiet twilight hour, are productive of much good, especially to the young, for whose benefit they are held. Rev. Charles Baidwin will preach at So'clock to-night.

To-morrow will be missionary from India and Mexico, will conduct service at 10:30 o'clock, and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will have charge of the afternoon services.

contained in bags holding less than $1,000 each.

Each night the vaults that are being counted are sealed up and opened next morning by the officials from Washington in the presence of a representative of Assistant Treasurer Page. Among the party from this city is a colored man employed in the Treasury Department, who has wonderful skill in packing bags of coln, and who will pack all the bags in the Philadelphia office. This work must be done well, as serious accidents are likely to result if the bags are packed carelessly. One of the assistants of Assistant Cashier Meline had occasion to enter a vault at the Treasury Department filled with bags of coin which had been packed carelessly. A sudden jartarted a movement among the bags, and it was only by throwing himself backward out of the door that he saved his life.

A RAID ON THE DIRT AND DUST. Cleaning Out the Postmaster General's

Official Apartments. The yearly renovation at the Postoffice Department has been entered upon, the rooms occupied by the Postmaster Gen-eral being the first to receive attention from the superintendent's force. The Postmuster General's suite consists of three come on the second floor of the building, with an outlook on E street. Since last with an outlook on E street. Since last summer's cleaning the applicants for ap-pointments in the postal service have prob-ably outnumbered two to one those of all the other departments combined, and a ma-jority of them have passed the rooms of the Postmaster General. The uncessing tread of officescekers had left its mark upon the of officeseckers had left its mark upon the once handsome carriets which adorned this floors of the Postmaster General's official apartments. The body Brussels, which was once so thick and velvety, is now worn threatbare in places. The portraits of former Postmastera General, which ornamented the walls of Mr. Vilas's office and his consultation room, have been taken down, revealing yellow stains upon the fresco work, and before they are replaced the walls and ceilings will be touched up by the departmental artist. The work of renovation will be rushed forward so as to be completed by the time Mr. Vilas returns from his visit to his home in Wisconsin.

$500 Not Called For.

It seems atrange that it is necessary to per-suade men that you can cure their diseases by offering a premium to the man who fails to receive bonefit. And yet Dr. Sage undoubtedly cured thousands of cases of obstinate catarrh with his "Catarrh Remedy." who would never have applied to him if it had not been for his offer of the above sum for an incurable case. Who is the next bidder for cure or cash?

rather Dennis Retires from the Head of St. Charles College.

Rev. F. P. Dennis, president of St. Charles College, adjoining Carroll's manor, in Howard county, Md., has resigned his position on account of ill-health and advancing years. He is now 69 years of age, and his health is so poor that he feels himself unable to attend to the duties of his position. Should his resignation be accepted it is thought that the Rev. A. J. Vulbert, now vice president of the college, or Rev. F. M. L. Dumout, who cocaspies the chair of philosophy at St. Mary's Seminary, Baitmore, will be appointed to the place. Rev. James A. McCallen, of St. Mary's Seminary, is also mentioned as a suitable candidate.

Rev. Mr. Dennis is the third president of St. Charles, and succeeded to the position ten years ago when Rev. Dr. Ferte resigned and returned to France. The first president of the college was the late Rev. Oliver L. Jenkins, of Baltimore, who died in 1856. The college was founded in 1850 by Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, who gave to it a tract of land, about 300 acres in extent, adjoining Doughoregan Manor. He himself laid the cornerstone of the first building and obtained through bis personal influence the charter of incorporation from the legislature of Maryland. The legal administration is committed by charter to five trustees, who, according to the express intended as a training school for young men who desire to study for the priesthood. Rev. O. L. Jenkin devoted his life and his fortune to the college, and at the time of his death over one handred of the students had become priests. ANNUAL HOUSE CLEANING.

Thorough Renovation to Take Place at the Executive Mansion. Now that the President and Mrs. Cleveland have vacated the white house for a month or more, the annual cleaning will be com menced immediately and carried forward as fast as the character of the work will allow. The carpets have already been taken up and cleaned and will be packed away until the other work is completed. A considerable amount of work will be done on the conservatory, and it will be somewhat enlarged also, as a large appropriation has been made for that purpose in addition to the inside work. The exterior of the white house will be repainted in a thorough manner. The handsome crystal chandeliers in the east room will be taken to pieces and carefully cleaned. There will not be much new furniture put in this year as the house was well and completely furnished during President's Arthur's term. New curtains, which have been ordered from Europe, will be put up in the east room, and in the dining room a handsome new carpet will be laid. low. The carpets have already been taken

NAVY DEPARTMENT BUREAUS

Will Secretary Whitney Reorganize Them Without Waiting for Congress. During the session of last Congress the bill for the reorganization of the navy, suggested by the Secretary of the Navy, pro vided for a division of the bureaus of the department under three heads, all of which department under three heads, all of which would be supervised by line officers, instead of, as at present, eight bureaus, four of which have a line and four a staff officer at their head. This bill failed to pass. Its tendency was to simplify the working organization of the department and to remedy the long-criticised system of too many bureaus. It is now reported that the Secretary intends to inaugurate these changes on his own responsibility.

A high official at the Navy Department yesterday said to a reporter for the Rayun-Lican: "I do not credit the report, as I believe the Secretary will wait until Congress specially authorizes him to reorganize."

A. Valuable Naval Report.

A Valuable Naval Report. The report on European dockyards, b Naval Constructor Philip Hicheorn, U. 8 Naval Constructor Philip Hicheorn, U. S. N., just issued by the public printer, is an important addition to the rapidity growing literature of naval science. Under orders from the late Secretary of the navy, this officer visited the dockyards of England, France, Germany, and Russia, and has compiled an unusually valuable account of the advances made in naval construction by those nations. At a time when our country is rapidly awakening to the necessity of a naval armament commensurate with her national greatness, such reports should find a wide circle of attentive readers, and it is to be hoped they will be freely forwarded to all applicants. Our national apathy upon the subject is mainly due to our ignorance of the vast and powerful preparations with which we may at any time to confronted by our foreign rivals.

Preparing Their Estimates. Circulars are being addressed by the com-missioners to the heads of the different denussioners to the heads of the different de-partments of the District government, re-questing each of them to furnish to the commissioners on or before the 10th proximo an estimate of the amount re-quired for the support of his branch of the District government for the fiscal year end-ing June 30, 1887.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP,

21 Pa ave. One Price Only. Washington, D. C.

At 3 Cents, A Thoughtful Girl.

What are thy dreams, oh maiden fair.

With wonderous azurs eyes? What are thy thoughts, so sweet That thou gazest on the skles?

Art thinking of the days of yore When thou wert fancy free, E'er thou hadst learned a sweetheart's lore.

E'er love had troubled thes? Thine eyes proclaim thee lost in

A puzzled look they wear, As though thy mind an answer sought, But found it not down hera.

"Oh, sir," she said, "I do not dream Of days gone long ago; But I'm wondering how, in Dickens name.

The 'Golden Eagle' sells so low. My Father bought a coat and (T'was silk), it cost four dollars Twas well worth double that amount. And it was cheap, you bet!

My I rother's clothes were nigh worn out; He went there for a suit. He now struts like a dude about;

It makes him look so cute.

My Eweetheart bought his summer clothes At the 'Golden Bagle Store,' Not one of all my former beaux E'er looked so sweet before,

I know their goods are in demand. A splendid stock they keep: But I'm b'owed if I can underatand How they can sell so cheap."

THE DIFFERENCE.

The cut shows what a lady requires (?) when starting on a trip to Europe.

A gentleman starting on same journey needs a comfortable, easy traveling suit for steamer and cars, a half dress suit and one or two extra pairs of trousers. With these articles and a "grip sack" he can travel around the world and make him-self presentable on any occasion.

For traveling a gray cassimere suit is what one wants, and for half dress a worsted four-button cutaway coat with trousers of different goods.
